

2nd Year Associate Application Process

We believe that training civic-minded clinicians to be confident business owners produces more access to restorative havens for mental health support for marginalized communities. Graduates from clinical programs deserve mentorship and training. Our Clinical Training Program elevates skills and increases capacity for private practice management.

Our Clinical Training Program has effectively nurtured the ability to heal the destructive results of internalized racism, homophobia, transphobia, and challenges faced by BIPOC and LGBTQIA2S+ individuals for over seven years. We prioritize the recruitment of therapists from these same communities.

We invite mental health professionals recognized by the Board of Behavioral Sciences or recognized by the APA Model Act for State Licensure of Psychologists who currently have at least one year of experience toward clinical licensure to learn SOMATIC CLINICAL CASE MANAGEMENT FOR TRAUMA INTEGRATION.

Application & Orientation Process

If you have a BBS Registration number that is active/current it does not matter how long you have been an associate, it matters that you want to start at the beginning of this training path. Likewise, if you are a licensed practitioner and willing to embrace a full year of training you are encouraged to apply.

This program will produce attachment-based somatic-oriented trauma therapists who know how to meet BIPOC and marginalized clients where they are. Clinical students in this program will become eligible for EMDR training and a full year of clinical guidance upon completion of all four quarters described below.

Our interview process begins with an orientation attended online, written response to our application essay, and an oral interview. Finalists from the initial round will be awarded a panel interview and top performers will receive an invitation to participate in the program.
